Male Senior May Apply For Danforth Fellowships

Applications for Danforth Graduate Fellowships worth up to $12,000 are now being received, E. L. Tolbert, Dean of Students, announced recently.

The fellowships, offered by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Missouri, are open to male college seniors or recent graduates preparing for a career of teaching, counseling, or administrative work at the college level. Applicants may be planning to major in any recognized field at the American graduate school of their choice, but should not have already undertaken graduate work.

Approximately 100 fellowships will be awarded to candidates from accredited colleges and universities in the United States. Nominees will be judged on intellectual promise and personality, integrity, genuine interest in religion, and potential for effective college teaching.

Winners will be eligible for up to four years of financial assistance, with an annual maximum of $1,500 for single men and $2,000 (as well as $500 per child) for married men, plus tuition and fees. Students without financial needs also are invited to apply.

In addition to the annual stipend, winners will be guests of the Foundation at an annual educational conference held on the shores of Lake Michigan.

Students may hold a Danforth Fellowship concurrently with other appointments, such as Rhodes, Woodrow Wilson, Fulbright, and National Science Foundation.

Further information concerning the program may be obtained in Alumnae Hall from E. L. Tolbert, who may nominate up to three candidates. Nominations must be submitted to the Foundation by November 1.

Peace Corps Test To Be Repeated

Any American who wants to serve in the Peace Corps will have another opportunity to qualify by taking examinations on October 7th.

The third round of Peace Corps examinations will be held at that time in testing centers throughout the country.

The examinations will begin at 8:30 A. M. and will last for six hours, with an additional hour out for lunch.

Each person will be given his choice between two types of examinations.

One examination is designed for men and women who would like to be considered for positions as secondary-school or college teachers. To take one of these tests, you need a bachelor's degree but you do not need to be an accredited teacher.

The other examination is for everyone else who wants to serve in the Peace Corps. There is no rigid passing grade for this test. Results are considered along with such other elements as background, special skills, and character references.

For the October tests, the Peace Corps hopes to attract a large number of Americans in the agricultural and industrial fields.

"We are receiving an increasing number of requests for such skills from prospective host countries," according to Dr. Nicholas Hobbs, Director of Selection for the Peace Corps. "We will have to turn down these requests if we are unable to meet their needs."

Further information and application blanks for the Peace Corps can be obtained from Mr. Stewart in Keezel, room two.

Practicing for the capping ceremony, Frances Faucette, Ann King, Mary Stewart Jenkins and Irene Richardson overcome problem of varying heights.

New Stack Level Added To Library English Dept. Increases Hours For Its Majors

The Madison College Library is in the process of growing. A fifth stack level was added to the Library during the summer. A stairway to the basement was finished and an audio-visual class room, along with an office for Mrs. Ferne Hoover, are now in the basement.

Our Library staff this year includes five librarians, two clerk-stenographers, twenty-four student assistants and two audio-visual supervisors.

The individual stack levels are also being remodeled. The floors have all been tiled, and nine carrels are being placed on each level making a total of twenty-seven carrels. The new stack level is painted a sunny yellow. A cage is on this level where papers and semi-rare books are kept and books are repaired.

The librarians are now busily moving books to less crowded shelves. Many books are on new stack levels and on different shelves. Be sure to check the lists on the stack levels for the specific location of books.

Changes in requirements for English majors will effect the Class of '65.

Upperclassmen may be aware of some developments, but new students may be interested in knowing important changes that have taken place.

Included in the changes will be an increase requirement from three to six hours in American Literature courses and an increase requirement from three to six hours in English Literature courses.

Improving the standards of English and of related subjects has been the major objective of the Madison College English Department for the past three years.

Three years ago the English Department initiated the procedure of administering standardized tests in grammar, usage, and mechanics to Freshmen after their first semester of English. This is done to obtain uniformity in the 23 Freshmen English sections.

These sororities work both individually and together. The Panhellenic Council is composed of representatives from all seven sororities and the local fraternity of Sigma Delta Rho.

Panhellenic heads up the fall "rush" which lasts a week. Each sorority has one night set aside for its "rush" party.

Those eligible for the "rush" are sophomores, juniors, and seniors. An average of 2.00 or better is also a requirement.

Students To Assist In Dating Centers

Because of its success last year, the scholarship program for student assistants in the dating centers has expanded. Previously, the only dormitories with student assistants were Gifford and Wayland. This year all the "dating" dormitories have new assistants.

The student assistants have been selected to assist the dormitory hostesses in whatever capacity that seems necessary. Their responsibilities then, consist of greeting the guests, checking the "sign out" sheets, taking care of emergencies and taking care of any other of the many things that may come up while they are on duty.

Margaret Barnard is assisting Mrs. Gardner in Cleveland. Mrs. Carolyn Pendleton in Converse has the help of Holly Conrad. Mrs. Laura Belle Ettenger in Gifford has the help of Lyn Cox. Mrs. Kathryn McNeil is assisted by Paula Revere in Logan and Mrs. Ruth Callison in Wayland is assisted by Francis Johnson. With the help of these girls the hostesses feel that much of their work has been lessened.

"The Nebbish" Is Theme Of Cotillion Dance

The Cotillion Club will hold its annual dance on October 14, in Keezel Gym. The theme this year will be "The Nebbish." ### SEA To Hold Membership Drive

The first meeting of the Student Education Association will be held on Tuesday, October 3, 1961, in Keezel Hall, Room 3, from 6:30, 7:15 p. m. All old members and all upperclassmen who are interested are invited.

The membership drive will be on October 4th, 5th, and 6th in the post office lobby of Harrison Hall. Any student enrolled in an education curriculum is eligible to join this professional organization.

The Student NEA program is a part of the National Education Association. When a student joins SEA, he is expected to become a student member of his state education or teachers' association. These state associations are the voice and action agencies for the teaching profession, and they work continually to improve education in a democratic society.

The dues of $3.00 may be paid at the first meeting. This amount includes local, state, and national dues and payment for the VEA and NEA journals.

Freshmen Caps Will Be Sold By Sophomores

This coming Monday all members of the Class of '65 will have the privilege of buying the latest style in hats.

These small, versatile, and practical hats of purple have a gold trimmed brim and each one is personally monogrammed. These hats, commonly referred to as beanies, will be sold at the low, low price of one dollar. In order to avoid the surging, pushing crowd and long lines, these hats will be sold through the dormitories.

Members of the class of '62 will fill the aisles in Wilson Auditorium Wednesday when they march in to officially become seniors. Each senior will be followed by a member of her sister class, the sophomores, who will cap her. The procession of approximately 170 seniors and an equal number of members from the class of '64 will occupy the front-center section of the auditorium.

Dr. J. W. Kraus, Madison's Librarian will deliver the address at the capping ceremony.

Directly following the address by Dr. Kraus, Senior Class President, Eleanore Gullion, will be capped by the Sophomore Class President, Rita O'Berry. Anna Mae Leighty will cap Vice-President Beverly Hoffman. Ann Quase, who is acting Secretary while Zilda Heileg is student teaching, will be capped by Diane Pennewell. Senior Treasurer, Ann Barber; Reporter, Charlotte Wooten; and Business Manager, Anita Hobbs; will each in turn be capped by Sophomore Class Officers Jean German, Carole Gorry and Janet Wood.

Capping of the officers will be followed by capping of the entire class of '62 by their sister class. Madison's traditional Alma Mater will be sung by everyone at the close of the ceremony. Wednesday's assembly will end with the recessional by newly-capped class of 1962.

Orchesis Selects Yearly Membership

Eight new members of Orchesis, Madison's modern dance club, were chosen Thursday night. They were chosen after participation in the club tryouts, in which they demonstrated their knowledge of and ability to modern dance.

This was the scene at Gifford dormitory moments before the last few sheets were pulled in after an "astounding" 15-minute student demonstration.

Students Air Dirty Sheets In Campus Demonstrations

Ah, the weary book-pounder at long last greatly eases between wrinkled and patched expanses of dull grey linen and finally falls asleep. After as many as three weeks of falling asleep on these same sheets, the student begins to feel the desire for something clean between his weary self and the dreary mattress.

At length, the day for distribution of fresh linens arrives. The poor dorm resident rejoices and doesn't even complain about the work of bed changing that she knows will follow the arrival. But what to her wondering eyes should appear, not two lousy sheets, but one single solitary, all alone, lousy sheet.

These children had been done a great injustice, or so they said. They remembered the courage, fortitude, and perseverance of their forefathers. They remembered, their fight for justice. They remember and were inspired.

Sheets hung out the windows and flapped in the breeze of three floors of both Converse and Gifford dorms. This was it—this was a demonstration of ungrateful students against the lack of another clean sheet. They had a banner on Gifford balcony which read "WE WANT CLEAN SHEETS". Collegians gathered on the walks, grass, and on the drive in front of the dorm to view the demonstration.

Criticism came quickly and furiously. Some thought the demonstration should have lasted longer and should have had full participation. Then there were those who thought (and perhaps still think) there never should have been a demonstration . . . after all, dirty sheets are better than no sheets . . . aren't they?

S S S Sponsors New York Trip

"New York City here we come", will be the slogan of some students on our campus in the following weeks.

The Social Science Society is again sponsoring a trip to New York City on October 26 through 29. Reservations for the New York trip are available to anyone enrolled at Madison.

Chartered buses will leave Madison Campus on Thursday morning, October 26. The itinerary for Thursday includes a tour of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, and The Hershey Chocolate Factory. Madison students will spend the first night in Hershey, Pennsylvania.

As part of the program $88.50 from the annual World University Service campaign was contributed to student international self-help and mutual assistance projects sponsored by WUS. This gift, coupled with contributions from the campuses around the world, makes possible health facilities, housing accommodations, supplementary foods and educational equipment for needy students in the Middle East, Africa, Southeast Asia and the Far East. Projects include establishment of a health center at Chung Chi College in Hong Kong; a cooperative student dormitory in Madras, India; X-ray apparatus for Nagpur University in India; medical instruments and supplies for health services in Indonesia; equipment for a student printing house in Israel; textbooks and academic journals

Students Discuss Opening Tearoom

Riotous elements of the student body have, from time to time, secretly discussed the possibility of opening the Tea Room on Saturday nights. I assume the object in mind being to give the dateless multitudes, both male and female, a place to congregate away from the capitalistic atmosphere of the competition across South Main Street. I understand that this was tried several years ago and then discontinued. I wonder why? It was rumored that the Tea Room's own Miss Roadcap was responsible. It appears that the above mentioned was caught performing some sensuous dance to the accompaniment of a bongo-guitar ensemble. Of course these rumors have not, as yet, been substantiated.

It is gratifying to this old crusader to note that the men students are taking more interest in extracurricular activities this year. The men are holding some of the club offices and occupy seats in many organizations. Congrats to those who are making themselves a part of the college community.

I bounced up to the book store window after a total of 7 hours in line to be told that 2 of the 6 books I needed were sold out. It seems as though somebody goofed up the count somewhere. Of course I was assured, through my tears, that the books would be in "shortly"; but I'm wondering how long my profs will grin and bear it.

Fulbright Grants Offered To 700

Only a month remains to apply for over 700 Fulbright scholarships for graduate study or research in 31 countries in Europe, Latin America and the Asia-Pacific areas, The Institute of International Education announced today. Applications will be accepted until November 1.

Applications for Inter-American Cultural Convention awards for study in Latin America, and for awards for study in Ireland under the Scholarship Exchange Program between the U.S. and Ireland have the same filing deadline.

Recipients of Fulbright awards will receive tuition, maintenance and round-trip travel. The terms of awards to Ireland are the same as those for the Fulbright grants. IACC scholarships cover transportation, tuition and partial maintenance costs.

Fulbright Travel Grants to supplement maintenance and tuition scholarships awarded from other sources are also available to American students receiving awards for study and/or research in universities in Austria, Denmark, France, Germany, Israel, Italy and The Netherlands.

IIE administers these graduate student programs for the U.S. Department of State.

General eligibility requirements for these programs are: 1) U.S. citizenship at time of application; 2) a bachelor's degree or its equivalent before the beginning date of the award; 3) knowledge of the language of the host country; and 4) good health. A demonstrated capacity for independent study and a good academic record are expected. Preference is given to applicants under 35 years of age who have not previously lived or studied abroad.

Applicants will be required to submit a plan of proposed study that can be carried out profitably within the year abroad. Successful candidates are required to be affiliated with approved institutions of higher learning abroad.

Students enrolled at a college or university should consult the campus Fulbright Program Adviser for information and applications. Others may write to the Information and Counseling Division, Institute of International Education, 800 Second Avenue, New York 17, New York, or to any of IIE's regional offices (see Letterhead).

Competitions for the 1962-63 academic year close November 1, 1961. Requests for application forms must be postmarked before October 15. Completed applications must be submitted by November 1.

The Institute of International Education, founded in 1919, seeks to foster international understanding through exchange of ideas and knowledge among all nations. It

Faculty Approves Creation Of Campus 4-H Club

Madison College faculty has granted approval for the organization of a 4-H alumni club on campus at Harrisonburg.

Official word was received shortly after a faculty meeting at which Margie Vest from Floyd county presented the request for approval.

An organizational meeting was held before the end of the 1960-61 term to elect officers and plan the club's first year. Ann Renalds of Shenandoah county was elected president, to be assisted by Carolyn Wilkinson of Washington county as vice president and Jane Mistr of Essex county as secretary-treasurer.

The club activities will begin this month when members assist with the chest X-ray drive for freshmen students. A membership drive will be conducted for eligible students, including all those who have completed at least one year of club work.

Mary Ball Massey of Westmoreland county and Nancy Lee of Prince William county have worked closely with 4-H members at Madison in establishing the club.

The alumni club gives college students the opportunity to further their leadership development in group activities.

These beanies are an extracurricular prerequisite for becoming a member of the Sophomore Class next year. The Freshmen will be capped in their new beanies in the October 18th assembly. All members of the Class of '65 are requested to wear their hats for a one week period following this assembly.

These beanies are being sold by the Sophomore Class. All Sophomores would like to extend best wishes and a happy, successful year to all Freshmen.

administers two-way scholarship programs for more than 5000 persons between the United States and over 80 foreign countries, and is an information center on all aspects of international education.

Mr. Blevin's comments on the Tea Room (see adjoining article) are certainly not foreign to Madison students who would like to see the college "hang-out" open on Saturdays. Another thought that has arisen in the past is "It would be so nice to be able to wear sports attire here." Mrs. Roadcap doesn't seem to mind the idea, but rules are difficult to change.

Foreign Students Assist In Lab

The rusty September tones of students returning to the halls of ivy are reawakening Kezel to the conjugations of French, Latin, Spanish, and German verbs.

The language laboratory is again, in use this year with the added color of two foreign student assistants. They are Miss Nicole Bernard of Lille, France, and Miss Marguerita Hill-Secco of Montevideo, Uruguay. The girls assist Dr. Rauch, head of the foreign language department, by explaining the mechanics of the lab to the new students.

While walking through the junior dining hall, if you should by chance overhear an unfamiliar garble, you would immediately know that you are close to the French and Spanish tables. Presided over by Nicole and Marguerite respectively, these tables put classroom knowledge to practical use by helping to make students more at ease with the alien tongues.

The number of students in the foreign language department has increased twenty-six percent this year.

Decorations And Knickknacks Reflect Student Originality

By Carol Fuster

Did you receive a visit from some mysterious stranger asking to see your room? Actually she was an undercover BREEZE agent taking a survey of interesting room decorations and color schemes. You may recognize your own room in the following descriptions of various interior decorations and unusual knickknacks which reflect the creativeness of Madison students.

For instance, one room gave the feeling of being in Early America, as every item was a replica of that period. A kerosene lamp and blue antique cream pitcher out of which was growing green philodendron adorned the dresser. On each desk was a crock cider jug lamp, and each bed had blue and green printed spreads with a white background. The Early American bookcase and the cider jug in the window were accented by white ruffled curtains to give the finishing touches to the decor.

Another room was characteristic of today, where form follows function. Such things as a modern wicker chair with burlap covered chair pads, and a large green plant were found there. Black cafe curtains were hung at one window, and brilliant yellow, orange, and red plaid curtains were hung at the other window. A spread of the same plaid, accentuated by a yellow burlap throw pillow, completed the theme.

Other rooms showed originality in decoration such as an Hawaiian fish net hanging on the wall with sea shells, starfish, cork, coral, seaweed, red leis, and Japanese glass balls. Another had Japanese lanterns hanging from a rod on which were hung bamboo matchstick curtains. One even had the air of a country room because of the pillow-ticking bedspreads and curtains covered with bright colored patches. Some loyal sorority girls choose their sorority's colors as the color scheme for their rooms.

Many amusing knickknacks and decorations were in some rooms. Behind one such door was a joke about an old maid school teacher who was saying, "I don't want more pay. I just want a husband!" Another door had a wooden gavel door knocker on the base of which was the inscription: "Knock gently friend/ What ere betide/ The kettles on/ So come inside." In one room, a sleepy doll which yawned and played music was found in the possession of a junior girl.

An unusual animal was found decorating a bedroom. Guess what it was. You are wrong. It was a large deer's head. On the same hall, two adjacent rooms were labeled, "The Green Door" and "The Red Room."

Next time you walk through a dormitory, observe the different decors, and see if you agree that Madison girls are original and quite talented in interior decorations.
